Hello! I'm Rose, an illustrator from the beautiful county of Cornwall in the UK specializing in children's book illustration. Where I studied at Falmouth University. My work is influenced by cute little animals and my love of history, taking inspiration from the natural world around me. I create my illustrations digitally using Procreate and Photoshop and whilst my work is created digitally, it still retains a tactile feel. When I'm not busy drawing, I enjoy spending time with my son, partner and little dog Alfie and exploring natural beauty which inspire my illustrations.
