Emily is a U.K.- based Illustrator who carries great passion for whimsical illustration and narrative. She graduated from University of the West of England with a BA in Illustration, where she honed her practice in digital media as well as traditional mediums, developing her creative mindset over this period. Emily enjoys collaboration and relishes any opportunity to work with creatives of all forms. She particularly loves to work with character design, narrative, editorial and promotional materials and is flexible to work to any goal. She currently works on The Great British Bakeoff and related media as an illustration intern under Studio Hovey, colouring and inking artworks for the shows.
