

I've been illustrating professionally for the last 8 years but my freelance illustration career really began in the playground with classmates commissioning me to draw anything from pin-ups to Beavis and Butthead to the Teletubbies. Now my areas of interest are illustrations for children's books and comics. If I don't have a pencil in hand I can be found baking some sweet treats in the kitchen or outside, running. I've lived in London and Los Angeles but currently call Cape Town home.
